National Financial Leaders Summoned by the Senate to Testify in Peace Treaty "Leak."

H.P. Davison*

Thomas W. Lamont

J.P. Morgan

Frank A. Vanderlip

Paul M. Warburg

Jacob H. Schiff

Foremost financiers of the United States, mentioned in connection with the bringing to this country of copies of the original draft of the peace treaty, which is being investigated by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. Their names were mentioned Monday by Senator Borah, who suggested that circumstances that had come to his through investigation had convinced him that these men might have some knowledge of how the treaty copies got to New York and into Wall street when the Senate was trying in vain to get a copy for its consideration. Senator Borah stated that he has no actual knowledge that the financiers mentioned by him know of the treaty copies being in Wall street or how they got there. Subpoenas have been issued for all six.

(NY TIMES—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

ROME, June 7.—(via Paris, June 18.) The Italian peace delegation will accept the plan for an Adriatic settlement, being discussed at Paris, according to information given me here. The Italian nation will do likewise. But such a compromise settlement will be for them "like taking a bitter medicine," repeating the words of my informant here. It will not be a settlement which will satisfy the Italian nation, but it will agree in order, o they tell me, to please the American delegation, even in order to please President Wilson.

But it must not be supposed Italy has given up her hope and expectation of realizing in full its Adriatic settlement. There is no doubt that once peace is signed, and the world begins to return to a more established order, Italy will false the issue through the mechanism provided by the League of Nations, although the country will accept the terms brought to Rome by the Italian commission. Premier Orlando's strongest supporters say the government will fall.

Someone will have to be the goat and in this case it will be the group of men who have been forced by circumstances, too strong to resist, to accept the peace settlement to which the country will agree only under protest.

And in this connection it is interesting to note that the belief is growing in Italy for some time now that the Allies will feel bound to the world to accept the peace settlement to which the country will agree only under protest.

This institution, which was first talked of before the Adriatic dispute, is to be a center where both Americans and French can get the formation of all kinds about the two countries. It is proposed there will be reading and writing-rooms with the leading newspapers and magazines of both countries and libraries containing Italian and American books. Also, there are to be research and writing-rooms for journalists.

GERMAN TRADE INVITING.

The American reference library of 12,000 volumes, which now exists, will be incorporated into the organization.

The scheme was making good progress until the President's Flume note was published. This temporarily put a halt to the campaign of raising funds for the Italian part of the programme. Now Crepli and other influential Italians are trying to start the movement again. Another phase of importance of course is the possibility of Italy's doing an extensive trading with Germany, should its demands be entirely denied. The low cost of shipping and exchange in favor of Italy, the great human nature to expect Italy to pass up the opportunity should the Peace Conference leave it dismasted.

FINANCIERS INVITED BEFORE COMMITTEE

MORGAN AND DAVISON COMING; LAMONT IN FRANCE, SCHIFF IN BAD HEALTH.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Telegrams requesting J. P. Morgan, Henry P. Davison, Thomas W. Lamont, Jacob Schiff, Paul Warburg and Frank A. Vanderlip, New York financiers, to appear before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee tomorrow and testify in the investigation of how copies of the peace treaty reached private interests in New York, were received today.

Instructions were given yesterday by the committee that subpoenas for the witnesses be issued but Chairman Lodge decided to summon them by telephone.

Davison notified the Senate Sergeant-At-Arms today he would come to Washington tomorrow.

Thomas W. Lamont is in France, J. P. Morgan is in America, and health and his office is understood to have requested that he be not asked to come to Washington at this time.

When I asked him what were his plans for the future, the ex-Crown Prince replied:

"After the peace treaty has been signed, I hope to return to Germany and live in private life on my estate in Siegen. I shall occupy myself performing my duties as a land-owner."

"What about your starting in the pottery business?" I asked.

"I am not interested in that," he replied. "It was the first of April. I know nothing about making pottery. Besides, I do not like it."

"All I wish to do is to return to Germany and live in private life on my estate in Siegen. I shall occupy myself performing my duties as a land-owner."

"I am fond of culture. I like good concerts, good theater, the company of cultured people. All I can do here on this island is ride about on my motorcycle, read, sketch, play tennis against my will in the garden and avoid the visitors who come on Sundays to call on me."

"I receive papers and books, and occasionally have friends to stay with me, like the aide to my father who came to see me."

"I am slow living at Wiesbaden, but people are all kind and the children like me. I'm free to go where I like, and I prefer it to being shut up in a castle, as my father at Amerongen is."

The ex-Crown Prince mentioned H. G. Wells' new book on the peace treaty. He said it was very clever and added that Homer Lea, who wrote "The Valor of Ignorance," would have been amused at the League of Nations.

HABEAS CORPUS FOR I.W.W. IS DENIED.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Federal Judge Frank M. Murphy has dismissed writs of habeas corpus sworn out in an attempt to prevent deportation of seven members of the I.W.W. found guilty by the Department of Labor of inciting industrial unrest in the Northwest.

After the engagement all the Allied machines returned.

LOS ANGELES SUNDAY TIMES TEN CENTS.

Commencing June 15, the price of the Sunday edition of the Los Angeles Times will be 10 cents per copy everywhere, when sold by newsboys or news dealers.

Delivered by carrier, the subscription rate will be 40 cents a month for the Sunday Only edition.

The regular subscription rate for The Times, daily and Sunday, by carrier, will continue at 85 cents per month.

The cost of white paper, labor and all the items entering into the production of a metropolitan newspaper have materially advanced in cost and, in order to maintain quality and volume, the price of 10 cents per copy on the streets and at news stands has been fixed.

This is a consistent rate, inasmuch as the price of the local Sunday papers outside of Los Angeles and the ten-mile limit has been 10 cents for several months. The same rate is now made to apply to 10 cents.

San Francisco and Oakland publishers announce that the price of Sunday editions will be 10 cents per copy beginning June 15.

It is impossible to produce a big Sunday paper at the old rate.

STANDARD SIGNS BIG OIL LEASE.

IMMEDIATE DEVELOPMENT IS PROMISED IN WHITTIER FIELD.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE:

WHITTIER, June 10.—The latest oil lease, so far as acreage is concerned, that has been made here in many years was closed this week. The Standard Oil Company has taken over approximately 400 acres of ranch land southeast of the city, and has agreed to start work drilling at once. The odd feature of the lease is that no rents, bonuses nor retaining fees were given, the oil company agreeing to pay a royalty for the acreage and its ability to develop quickly against the rancher's lands.

The Standard Oil Company has signed pool their interests in prospective royalties on the acreage.

It is announced that the royalties for land owners will be one-sixth for oil, while gas production is also taken care of in a satisfactory manner. The latter feature is the chief attraction of the great Emery and Murphy fields east of the new lease have been enormous producers of gas. One well in these fields has an initial production of 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

The People and Their Troubles

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

Enslaved Husbands.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

A poor, down-trodden husband, whose wife has succeeded in making a drudge of him, has written me a pathetic letter in which he asks me if I think that it is a man's duty to do the housework in addition to doing his own work.

"I am a young doctor," writes this victim of woman's tyranny, "I work very hard at my profession and come home exhausted in mind and body, but my wife insists on my taking care of the children and doing the sweeping, dusting and washing and dusting. She is a young, husky woman, far more about it to do than work than I am. Do you not think that she asks too much of me?"

I certainly do, and my advice to the husband is to go out on strike and refuse to do a man's turn about the house. There are just two excuses that justify a woman in doing all the housework: an understanding of a cook, chambermaid and nurse.

One is when she is too sick and feeble to do the work herself and they are too poor to hire a maid.

The second is when the man is too tired and exhausted to do his man's work in the world, and all that he is good for is to peet pots, sweep, scour pots and pans and dust the parlor mantelpiece.

Of course, when a man volunteers for kitchen police duty, that is another question. There are some men who like to cook who prefer to do the vacuum cleaner to myself, and who would rather wheel the perambulator than sit behind the wheel of an automobile. Every man to his taste, and a considerate wife will no more drive a husband with the soul of a donkey than she will drive a horse than she will drag an undomestic spouse to the dish water.

The thing that we delight to do is labor. It is a rest and a diversion, and if a man delights in coming home from his store or office and cooking up a dainty little dinner, and caring for the children, and taking care of his wife, he should be ashamed of himself for having defaulted on her end of the bargain, and for having laid his burden on her husband's shoulders.

It is true the children are just as much his as hers, and it is just as much her duty to care for them as it is his, but it is his business to take care of them in one way, and hers to take care of them in another, and it isn't fair for her to dump the rest on him.

Worse still, when she forces him to do her work in addition to his own she is lessening his ability to do any work properly. The man who has had his rest broken by nursing fretful children goes to his inbor the next day with jangled nerves and a clouded brain, and is no match for the man who has had an untroubled and refreshing sleep.

Many a wife who wonders why her husband doesn't get along any faster in business, and cannot understand why men of less ability pass him on the road to success, will find the answer to her conundrum in the fact that she makes a nurse maid out of him. She saps his vitality at home, and he goes to his business too tired and worn to have any initiative or energy left with which to do the big game.

The average woman, who has never done any work but domestic work, has no conception of the tremendous strain that business makes upon a man's strength. She does not realize that in the fierce competition that exists in every line of business a man puts forth every effort of mind, soul and body, and that when it is over he is literally exhausted, and if he is to be built up to stand the strain the next day he must have rest and private amusement. A man must have something pleasant and interesting to do.

He must not have more work put on him, he must not be made to perform unpleasant duties, he must not be nagged and worried.

If a woman thinks that there would be no more women making their husbands do the housework. For even a selfish woman hesitates to kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

While American Senators were clamoring for the text of the peace treaty, the Chicago Tribune got it and published it and sent it to The Times. It was one of the great and impressive feats in the annals of great and impressive American journalism.

Co-operating, as it does, in news service with the Chicago Tribune, The Times was enabled to publish the treaty exclusively in Los Angeles, sharing honors with its Chicago contemporary. It was a service of immense value, which The Times readers appreciated.

IN THE HOME.
One of the government's dollar-a-year men has had his annual salary framed and hung up in his library. Says it might come handy on a rainy day. He always has a dollar in the house, anyhow.THE CUT-UPS.
The Turks are very plain and blunt about it. Recently they sent out invitations to a massacre they were about to have. Aren't they the cut-ups? Nobody but a Turk would think of making a social function out of the butchering of a neighbor.THE BABIES.
The State Board of Health reports physical defects in some 40 per cent. of about 50,000 babies examined in California. Leave it to the doctors to find defects and make reports. Some of the babies have the curious habit of breathing through their lungs and others were caught playing with their toes. Probably we will have a splendid series of surgical operations as a result of the sleuthing of the brainy doctors.THE WORLD OF WOE.
Besides the agitator and the Bolshevik we are to have the seventeen-year locust. This winged pest is due to sweep across a great strip of our beloved country from the Atlantic to the Mississippi and from Manhattan to Mobile, but may not be able to cross the Rockies on account of cold feet. What does our gifted President propose to do in the face of this invasion? Suppose there is a sympathetic raid on the part of the Argentine ant or the insatiable cootie comes out in a demand for longer hours and more work? Must our lamented land be given over entirely to trouble-makers— Insect and otherwise?BANKERS AND PEACE.
Senator Borah intimates that he was suspicious of the covenant of the League of Nations because all the bankers appeared to be in favor of it. Of course they are, and so are the farmers, the business men and the workers. But since when has it been necessary to show suspicion over a thing favored by the bankers? There is no class of men more concerned with the maintenance of world peace and order than the bankers. Neither is there anything in the profession to prevent the full exercise of unselfish patriotism. On a programme of safety first it is wise to be suspicious of the politician a little sooner than of the banker, to say the least.AMERICANISM.
Strong resolutions were adopted by the California Bankers' Association in their recent annual conference at Catalina denouncing attempts to overthrow orderly government by violence and demanding that the imported apostles of Bolshevism and anarchy be returned to their respective countries as undesirable for American citizenship.

It is the opinion of the California bankers that: "Industrial unrest can and shall be only overcome and the higher plane of business prosperity and personal living worked out along the lines of intense and equitable application of the principles of right and justice, man to man, but always under the beneficent administration of law in what we steadfastly believe to be the most democratic and liberty-loving country upon the foot of the earth, these United States."

During the regime of autocratic persecutions in Europe the ports of this country were open to political exiles who sought to live under a free government where the principle of self-determination was actualized, as well as theoretically, observed. But there is nothing in the Constitution or statutes of the United States providing that it shall be turned into a propagating station for Bolsheviks and anarchists. Deportation is a most effective remedy. The Bankers' Association does well in declaring that future immigrants must be accepted strictly on probation; that they must show themselves to be worthy of American citizenship as a condition of continued residence.

Mr. Orr E. Monnette, chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, is to be congratulated for this vigorous and timely appeal for a higher realization of the true meaning of the term "Americanism."

ARE THERE "JOKERS" IN IT?
The Times is free to admit that the principle of "open covenants, openly arrived at," is not in accord with the policy of the Peace Conference in withholding the text of the peace treaty from Allied peoples. That the full purport of the treaty is now known to the American people is due to the enterprise of a newspaper correspondent, Frasier Hunt, of the Chicago Tribune and the Los Angeles Times, who secured a complete copy of the text of the treaty, brought it to New York and wired it to the Tribune and The Times.

Although repeated demands had been made by United States Senators upon the government for a copy of the full text of the treaty, these demands were persistently refused. As the Constitution provides that the President shall negotiate treaties, "with the advice and consent of the Senate," it is but natural that Senators should feel that they have a right to look at the government and not to the press for information concerning the context of such treaties.

The copy of the peace treaty now printed in the Congressional Record and thus brought officially before the Senate is that one that Mr. Hunt brought with him from France. For weeks the text of the treaty has been free to the peoples of Germany and Austria, where complete translations of the text were published. The American people, while supposed to have some interest in that treaty, are the last to be enlightened.

When such secret methods are used suspicion naturally arises that there are provisions in the treaty to which the American people might object. As there can be no effect without a cause, the average American is asking what purpose the Peace Conference sought to attain by withholding from the Allied powers certain important sections of the treaty.

After a careful comparison of the text of the treaty with the authoritative summary published a month ago The Times has come to the conclusion that it was a bureaucratic application of diplomatic procedure—an adherence to "red tape"—rather than any desire to hoodwink or mislead the American people, that caused the text of the treaty to be officially withheld until it should be actually signed by the high contracting parties.

Anglo-Saxon officialdom has always been a stickler for precedent. Asked why the text should not be published until the signatures were affixed thereto, an Englishman simply replies, "It isn't done, you know." More than one hundred years ago the American colonies burst the bond of British dominion; but our government has never been able to break away from British customs.

A few important points, however, the first published summary failed to do justice to the text. There was in it but slight reference to the Saar Valley plebiscite; and the real purport of the sections referring to international labor agreements was not conveyed. In fact, a perusal of the text tends to strengthen the conviction that it contains entirely too much extraneous matter. Germany is protesting that the Saar Valley terms are worse than the actual conveyance of the territory involved from Germany to France. Under the provisions of the text the government of the territory will be administered by France, but Germany must pay the bills. The conditions under which the plebiscite will be held are also said to be such as to make certain in advance that the territory will be ultimately annexed to the French republic.

This question, however, is one in which the United States is but remotely interested. It is a detail sectional in its nature and local in European politics. However, it appears that Germany is unduly alarmed. If the population is German at heart, and desires to remain a part of Germany, the Allies would not be able to prevent, if they desired, the plebiscite from resulting in a decision in favor of Germany. An attempt to exert outside influence would only make the people more determined in their self-determination. The only thing to be feared is that, during the next fifteen years, the local condition would be similar to that of the American States in which the question of slavery was left to local option before the Civil War.

The Times reads with regret the thousands of words in the treaty relating to national and international labor agreements and conditions. The only thing to be said in their favor is that their acceptance by the different signatories is left optional, in place of being made compulsory. The question of labor is one that is local to each country; and The Times is constrained to oppose with all its vigor any attempt to set up European standards for American workers. If an attempt at international unification was successful it would only be accomplished by lowering our standard until it would conform with that of European and Asiatic peoples. We should be pulled down much farther than they would be pulled up. We have no objection to their trying to reach our standards; but we do object to abandoning our standard, taking pot luck with them and seeking in that way to get it back again.

We did not go to war with Germany over any wage and labor dispute. The question of hours and working conditions was not involved. Why should it be dragged into the peace treaty? If modifications and amendments are to be made before the treaty is finally adopted The Times suggests that the whole subject of international labor relations be eliminated. Why that question should be jugged into the treaty has not been made clear. There is no objection to an informal international labor conference, but there are many and weighty reasons why these questions should not be embodied in international treaties.

If there are any "jokers" to be found in the text of the peace treaty we should be inclined to hunt for them in the sections relating to labor and labor conditions. This question will doubtless be threshed out pretty thoroughly during the Senatorial discussions.

The Sinn Feiners do not seem to be cutting much ice at the Paris Peace Conference. The delegates are doing a lot of talking, but getting nowhere.

Having made it, the late California Legislature must stand on its record. This may be tough, but there is no other way out. By their fruits ye shall know them.

SHIPBUILDING PROGRESS.

The impressive statistics showing the tremendous growth of the shipbuilding industry in the United States are contained in a "Census of Shipbuilding" for 1916 and 1914 just issued by the Department of Commerce. The report was prepared under the supervision of Eugene F. Hartley, chief statistician for manufacturers. The statistics for the industry for 1914 were collected in connection with the quinquennial census of manufacturers for that year, but were not published at that time for war reasons. The 1914 figures and those covering the operations of 1916 taken from a later census are incorporated in the government bulletin.

While California did not head the last as a producer of ships in time of emergency it stands well up among the States that led in the industry. In an article in the bulletin on general statistics Everett Strong points out that a marked feature of the industry is the large increase in the capital invested. The increase for 1916 as compared with 1914 was $87,157,951, or 58 per cent. The great majority of the establishments engaged in the construction of steel vessels, the bulletin says, are large plants with costly equipment.

Compared with the total number of plants reported for the entire shipbuilding industry those constructing and repairing steel ships form but a small proportion, 6.9 per cent and 7.8 per cent, respectively, of the relative importance of this branch of the industry, however, it is pointed out, is shown by the fact that in 1914 and 1916 it gave employment to 75.3 per cent and 77.6 per cent, respectively, of the total number of wage-earners and contributed 74.7 per cent and 77.8 per cent, respectively, of the aggregate value of the products.

Statistics covering the period from 1873 to 1916 show that in that time the capital invested in shipbuilding plants increased from $20,779,874 to $242,217,889, or nearly twelvefold. The average number of wage-earners increased 21,245 to 78,497 and the total value of the products increased from $28,800,327 to $185,852,192. Commenting on these figures the bulletin says that the increase indicates that, as the construction of steel ships has grown in importance, capital has become far more necessary to the development of the industry than was the case when ships were constructed of wood only.

New York is the most important State in the industry. Nine States, New York, Maine, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Florida, Washington, Michigan, California and Maryland, had 67 per cent of all shipbuilding establishments in 1914 and 64.2 per cent in 1916. In 1916 the value of products for New York equaled 16.9 per cent of the total for the United States and 16 per cent in 1914. New Jersey, California, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts, Ohio and Washington ranked next in the order named. California advanced from eighth place in 1900 to fifth in 1914 and to third in 1916.

An increase of 63 per cent in average number of wage-earners was reported for the industry in 1916 as compared with 1914. The highest percentages of gain in 1914 were reported for Washington and California, amounting to 94.1 per cent and 87.5 per cent, respectively. In 1916 Washington, Connecticut, Maryland and California each showed an increase of more than 100 per cent, and Oregon a much greater increase.

In both the 1914 and 1916 censuses over one-half of the value of all shipbuilding products was reported by plants in the North Atlantic division. The value of products in this division for 1916 was $92,307,475, an increase of more than 90 per cent over 1914.

The Pacific division, made up of California, Oregon and Washington, stands next in value of products. This division, the government bulletin says, has advanced from a position of comparatively small importance to a prominent place in the shipbuilding industry. There was an increase in the total value of its products from 1914 to 1916 of $21,983,396, or 190.5 per cent. Of the total products $23,823,069 reported by the three Pacific Coast States for 1916, $20,210,745 was for work on steel vessels, which is nearly three times the amount reported for the same class of products in 1914.

During 1916 the industry in the United States gave employment to 72,497 wage-earners as compared with 44,459 in 1914. The North Atlantic division reported 45.1 per cent, of the total and the Pacific division 16.4 per cent. Thus the three Pacific States contributed in 1916 one-sixth of the country's great war-winning shipbuilding industry.

While the government bulletin does not comment on this feature, its figures on the months of maximum employment bear eloquent testimony to the advantages of the California climatic conditions for out-of-door workers all the year around. In 1914 the month of maximum employment in thirteen of the twenty shipbuilding States was a spring or early summer month. In 1916 the month of greatest activity in fifteen States was in the latter part of the year, reflecting, according to the bulletin, war conditions. In 1914 the maximum number employed for New York was in May, for New Jersey in June and for California and Virginia in January. In 1916 California, ranking fourth among the States in number of wage-earners, reported its largest number in operation at this port and Long Beach.

Shipbuilding and boatbuilding plants owned by corporations represented 27.3 per cent of the total number of establishments in 1916 as against 21.1 per cent in 1914 and 18.2 per cent in 1909. Corporations reported for 1916 91.6 per cent of the total number of wage-earners and 92.2 per cent of the total value of products. In California the proportion of wage-earners employed by corporations exceeded 90 per cent both in 1914 and 1916.

As showing the tendency of the industry to concentrate in large establishments the bulletin says that, "although there was a decrease in the number of plants from 1914 and 1916, the industry showed a decided growth.

Bituminous coal was the principal fuel used in the industry, 251,820 tons. California used 78,596 barrels of oil, 63.9 per cent of the total quantity of this kind of fuel. Ohio reported 95.8 per cent of all the gas used. The greatest tonnage of steel vessels launched in the United States in 1916 was at San Francisco, 74,939. The second greatest tonnage was reported by Newport News.

THE BUDGET BILL.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Once more the budget method for regulating government expenses is before Congress, and this time in the form of a bill backed by the majority party.

The budget method means simply that all appropriations for the government are prepared and admitted to Congress by one body, having due regard for the amount of the public revenue, as well as for the needs of the various departments.

Our present method of appropriation is similar to that of a large family, each member of which has a check book and the right to draw on the family account. No wonder Uncle Sam, the worried head of this family, is always trying to borrow money.

There are eight committees of Congress which have the right to appropriate money. Representatives of the government departments go before these and tell the committee what they want. There are two chief reasons for waste. In the first place each Congressman on each committee is compelled to get as much money as he can to be spent in his own district. Hence the ancient scandal of the river and harbor pork barrel and the building of superfluous and ornate Federal structures.

In the second place, each government department has the right to appropriate what it needs rather than what it wants. The permanent Cabinet member, or the permanent relations between a Cabinet member and a committee chairman, may have much to do with the amount of money appropriated for a certain department.

Of course, the recommendations of the committee have to be passed by Congress, but Congress as a whole cannot study each item in the appropriation bills, so that the committees really dominate the public purse.

The need is obvious for some one organization, as free as may be from sectional bias, to co-ordinate all these appropriations, to dole out to each department what it needs and to see that the nation lives within its income.

The bill will provide a national budget system and an independent audit of government accounts. Just introduced by Mr. Good, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, places the business of budgeting and auditing in the office of the President.

The President is the chief house-keeper of the nation. Through his Cabinet he is held responsible if any government department is extravagant. In the old days it was comparatively easy for a President to keep track of all his departments, putting a mild check upon their expenditures. Indeed, until Jackson's administration it was possible for a President with an average memory to call each government employee by his correct name. But these days are over.

With the war, things have become even worse. The last Congressman had scarcely cast his vote in favor of war before dozens of hastily-formed committees and commissions and divisions appeared, preparing quietly to fit themselves for the demands of government. Hundreds of determined citizens came to Washington and insisted upon the government employing them at the rates of a dollar a year and incidentally providing them each with office space and a fair-sized force of reasonably attractive young women.

Not to be outdone by this avalanche of new commissions and divisions, the old bureaus of the government began to look about for work which might be said to pertain to the war and for new employees to do it. Divisions that had formerly done satisfactory work in a couple of office rooms, with the aid of only two or three stenographers and clerks, now spread out into whole suites, with vast retinues of office boys and war workers. In addition, each commission, committee and division insisted that it must have its own political department and an armed guard to prevent its secret activities from being made public.

It is unnecessary to point out that if the government had had an adequate budget system during this expansive period, with a division of book-keepers and auditors carefully keeping track of all its expenses, a great deal of money would have been saved which now has to be made up in hard-earned taxes.

The proposed budget system provides that all departments, bureaus, boards, commissions, offices or other establishments of the executive branch of the government shall furnish to the President such information regarding the powers, duties, activities, organizations, financial transactions and methods of business of their respective offices as may be from time to time required of them, and that the Director of the Bureau of the Budget . . . shall, for the purpose of securing such information, have access to and the right to examine any books, documents, papers or records of any such office.

It also provides that at the beginning of each regular session of Congress the President will be requested to transmit to that body a national budget, prepared by the Bureau of the Budget, showing the resources and liabilities of the government; the revenues and expenditures of the government for the current year, as well as the revenues and needs of the government for the ensuing year; and to explain how, in his opinion, these needs should be met.

The most important feature of the bill is the provision that all estimates of governmental expenditures, including even those proposed by Congress, will be referred to the Bureau of the Budget and approved or refused by it instead of by committees of Congress. This means that the pork barrel will be removed from the Capitol.

The man who can either drink or let it alone will have to take the lower end of the dilemma after July 1.

WORKING.

In wartime's long and dreadful night they told us we must work or fight, and so we worked or fought; the husky man secured a gun and sought the spur of vandal Hun; the balance of us wrought. We fat men left our gilded lairs, our hammocks and our easy chairs and tilled the fertile soil; we pawed around and split and planted and sowed—for now it's work or die. It costs so much to stay on earth we have no time for hours of mirth, for dreams or idle games; we have to work or die. We have to work like bumble bees around our quilting frames. With labor we are free; to rustle for the bones; there is no place for dreaming drowses beneath the bunting sky.

Trustees Put Kibosh on All Games of Chance.

Groceries and Produce on Contraband List.

An order from the Board of Trustees at Venice last night instructing their City Attorney, Rush Blodgett, to draft an ordinance prohibiting games of chance offering groceries or produce as prizes is taken as an indication that the authorities have been able to arrive at some agreement in regard to the recent shutting down of all games of chance at the beach.

On the beach, living, coffee, cigars and other staples, on games of chance were recently closed when Venice merchants complained that the concessions were infringing their business. The young store keepers then retorted by having all games of chance shut down through an order from Dist. Atty. Woolwine, who invoked the State law in that regard. Police Chief Jack Griffin lost his job in the squabble which followed, and the District Attorney forthwith employed him as a special investigator.

Now comes an order from the Trustees for an ordinance prohibiting games which give groceries or produce as prizes but the ordinance is not to contain any reference to the giving away of kewpies, jewelry, candy, puppies, kittens, chinaware and Japanese novelties, it is said. Such an ordinance would seem to afford the protection while legitimate novelties would be safe. It appears likely that the other concessions will be permitted to operate unmolested.

WANTS MONKEY TRIED IN COURT.

Complaint Charging Disturbing Peace Asked Against Little Animal.

A complaint charging disturbing the peace was asked yesterday against little Jumbo, a tiny monkey who abounds in front of a store at 521 West Sixth street.

The trouble started when Jumbo reached through his bars and snatched a pair of glasses from Roy Black of 314 South Clay street. After getting the glasses Jumbo ate them up, much to the disgust of the owner, who demanded the arrest of the monkey.

Although the prosecuting attorney was forced to admit that Mr. Black has a good case, no complaint was issued, but a warning was sent to Jumbo's owners.

He reached last night, but his chief deputy, W. C. Doran, had this to say: "The District Attorney's office was compelled to turn down the complaint because regular game stores were being conducted at Venice and people were being induced to gamble for supplies. The closing of the country stores created a furor which was not in the law."

Personalty do not think people will be sufficiently interested in the little novelty games of chance to make it worth while for people to continue operating them."

GET RUNAWAY GIRLS.

Motion-Picture Struck Misses Captured Through Letter.

Miss Gladys Calfee, 14, years of age, of Wilcox, Ariz., now being held here in the Juvenile Hall, will have to explain several things to her stepfather, Mr. H. Ketcherid, of Wilcox, when she is returned to Arizona to the local authorities. Among others a charge account of about $400 against her stepfather will have to be accounted for and also the reasons for her flight from Wilcox.

Miss Calfee was arrested yesterday with Anna Ketcherid, 16, also of Wilcox, at the Southern Pacific depot. According to her story, Miss Calfee obtained a large amount of clothing in Wilcox by getting it from her stepfather and by coming to this town intending to become a motion-picture star. When she wrote to her friend, Anna Ketcherid to join her here, the police traced the letter and arrested the two girls. They both will be returned to their homes.

HAS GOOD CHANCE.

Jewish Philanthropist, Shot by a Maniac, May Get Well.

Unless complications set in, Caesar Samuels of 425 Lorraine boulevard, philanthropist and head of the Federation of Jewish Charities, who was shot by Louis Goldfried, last Monday, has an excellent chance of recovery. This statement was made last night by his attending physician, Dr. Newmark and Kahn, after a consultation with the Samaritan Hospital, where Mr. Samuels was taken immediately following the attempt on his life.

"Unless pneumonia sets in within twenty-four hours, and assuming that the bullet failed to touch any part of the heart, Mr. Samuels should recover from the wound," Dr. Newmark stated. "Despite his advanced age, Mr. Samuels is in remarkably good physical condition."

SPURLIN TROUBLE BREAKS OUT AFRESH.

PRINCIPALS IN SENSATIONAL DIVORCE IN NEW BATTLE OVER PROPERTY.

De Kalb Spurlin, a lawyer in a suit filed yesterday against his wife, Camille Astor Spurlin, that his office was broken into repeatedly and personal property taken away, his business of contracting interfered with and his creditors stirred up, so he asks that Mrs. Spurlin be enjoined from interfering with his business, and that the personal property alleged to have been taken be returned to him.

The Spurlins passed through a sensational divorce action brought by Mrs. Spurlin some time ago. Mrs. Spurlin failed to obtain a decree, and Mr. Spurlin says that he has offered her a home, but that she "spitefully and ungratefully refuses" to accept that she "would kill him rather than do so."

Mr. Spurlin lists the personal property taken from him. This includes a deed to the property at 1515 Lorraine boulevard, a certificate calling for $5000 shares of stock of the Housekeepers' Investment and Building Company, check stubs and record books. He claims that he is being asold.

COMMITTEE WRATHY.

Councilmen Say Harbor Office Gets No Fine Furniture.

Velvet rugs and golden oak furniture for a probation officer's quarters in the branch City Hall at San Pedro may be in keeping with the fact that Los Angeles is the premier city of the Pacific Coast, but the ire of members of the City Council's Finance Committee was reversed yesterday when Remanded lists of the proposed expenditure came before that body.

Recently a request was made that some furnishing be provided for the probation officer's room in San Pedro. The request appeared to be modest, one but the items proposed yesterday amounted to $1,944, and they included a velvet rug, golden oak desk and chairs, etc. Members of the Finance Committee declared that but three probations were to be had in the San Pedro office since it was established. They decided that the office will have to get along with such furnishings as can be picked up from the City Hall storeroom.

BATCHELDER HAS CHANCE TO LIVE.

Wife-Pact Shooting's Victim Amazes Surgeons.

Winning Life-Fight Against Frightful Odds.

Collins is Finally Charged with Deadly Assault.

While Charles L. Collins, would-be slayer of J. D. Batchelder, with whom he had entered into a pact for the transfer of his wife, was being arraigned before Justice Fortes yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, Mr. Batchelder, who since May 1, the night of the shooting, has been at the California Hospital in a dying condition, was despatched to the Los Angeles Hospital by Dr. George E. Stahl, chairman of the surgical staff.

Following a hasty operation at the hospital, he was removed after the shooting, by Dr. Stahl, assisted by Drs. George Zorb and Arthur Goodin, it was not believed that Mr. Batchelder had a single chance to recover. Four hours were blown in operations, including, weeps, in themselves fatal. The following day peritonitis developed and complications set in resulting in serious injuries to the bladder.

Then the patient developed double pneumonia.

Dr. Stahl had been called in consultation by Dr. Edwin H. Wiley, former chief police surgeon and just back from overseas duty with the American Expeditionary Forces, where he treated and operated on hundreds of wounded.

"Quick surgery, and then careful treatment," stated Dr. Stahl yesterday. "I believe I have saved Batchelder's life. Of course, he may not recover. We never can be sure, but the fact that he is alive now would tell me to say that he will get well."

After waiting since the night of the shooting for the outcome of Mr. Batchelder's wounds, the District Attorney's office yesterday issued a communication charging Collins with assault with intent to commit murder. He was transferred from the City Jail to the county and is being held in default of $5000 bail.

Attorney Jess R. Shuler, defendant yesterday, stated that he would attempt to make the trial a success. He has been established without a doubt that Mr. Batchelder will recover.

Collins, who will have a trial on June 14, while the latter is a discharged soldier, against Stella M. Coffin, in Judge Fortes' court yesterday. The evidence showed that a sister of Mrs. Coffin was living apart from her husband, and that the parents of the sisters are divorced, the mother living in Asia and the father in the United States.

Mrs. Coffin did not contest the suit and was brought into court yesterday. She said she did not care for her husband. She had told him that while they were living at Sweetwater, Aransas, she had told him to come back and she refused.

Judge Taft granted Mr. Coffin a decree and told Mrs. Coffin that her children were with her now, and she would appear as a mother or proper guide for children.

"If Mr. Coffin asks for them, he will probably be given their custody," said the court.

Husband Questions Wife's Right to Testify Against Him.

When Roy M. Leaf, accused of obliterating money under a false character, objected to his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Leaf, testifying against him yesterday in Justice Fortes' court, the case against the man was dismissed on motion of Deputy District Attorney Heinecke. Leaf was accused, jointly with an unidentified woman, with representing that the woman was his wife, and the owner of an automobile belonging to Mrs. Leaf. The car was sold for $200 to Robert R. Fashley of No. 1118 South Main street, but payment was stopped on the check. The other woman was never arrested.

Byron Houck has Better of Pitchers' Argument.

Chadbourne Proves Ready Aid for Vernon.

Makes Remarkable Catch of a Hot Line Drive.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—Bill Esick is here again with the team that so many folks have been feeling sorry for. The Custard Pies need a lot of sympathy, too, for all they did today was to jump from fifth place to second. They horned the Seals out of that second place by winning 3-0 and Bill and his gang may mean to stay right where they are until they get a chance to dislodge the Angels and go to the top of the heap.

The Custard Pies made their big jump at the expense of Jim Scott, who won one of the two games the Seals grabbed last week.

Death Angel Jim pitched pretty good ball, but Byron Houck had the better of the argument, and he had no trouble blanking the Seals. He did that little thing because Chet Chadbourne, who was ready to be in trouble in the fifth inning, with two men on bases, Houck walked Baldwin, under instructions from the bench. That pass chased the bases and brought up Scott. Jim hit the ball, but it was a long fly, and it looked like a clean-up, but Chadbourne moved back and grabbed the line drive with the tips of his fingers and hung on.

The batting of Fisher put the sides under the Seals, and in the sixth, Higginson bunted him along and was safe himself when Baldwin fumbled the ball. Higginson bunched his behind it. In the sixth, Fisher again came to the fore with a timely swat that sent a run over the plate.

It was all over in the eighth, Jim Scott and Fitzgerald got singles, but neither Schick nor Caveney could do anything worth while in the pinch. In the ninth with one hand down, Koerner got the second. Then, as Houck turned on a full head of steam and stopped a hold Connolly and Kamm on strikes, sending the ball game like a real champion.

The Custard Pies are a collection association, but there are swell ball clubs for all that. Little Mitchell is like a flea around that short patch and he cut off at least three hits today. Esick has a strong pitcher in Schick, while Caveney and his bunch is hard to beat. If the Custard Pies grab the odd game this week, they will be lucky. The Pats' whipped Oakland last week in the south and Esick, Pfeffer, at third had he thought about it in time. When he finally decided to throw to first it was too late, and the bases became full. To have the seeking crew come up to the plate, my goodness, in the air. The visitors were not expecting this. Kenworthy's fly to Lane scored Fabrique, the other runners advancing. Esick was pursued, filling the bases, and Bubba Neff proved this strategy faulty by slamming safely to left. Fourner and Crawford piled in, and Esick went to third, from which point Ruble was "squeezed" across by Higginson. Double play to Lane. The boys were sure were mixing 'em up in that round. Walks, bunts, clean hits, sacrifice flies and "squeezes"! What more could one ask for his tax? Variete being the name of his life, he was very lucky for the Oaks, and they hardly knew what to expect next. Neff had a very good day. Not only did he derive a great deal of personal satisfaction out of the show, but he handed his team a victory, and he was in the field, including bad hoppers.

Bonne crowned a triple in the seventh, and scored on a single by Stump. The demonstration however, was short lived and did not influence public opinion. The score:

EVANS ENTERS WESTERN EVENT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

CHICAGO, June 16.—Charles (Chick) Evans, national amateur and open golf champion, who is this week defending his title in the open amateur tournament at Del Monte, has sent in his entry in the western amateur championship to be held in St. Louis next week, according to word received today.

Evans recently announced that he would not enter a contest in the western event, which he had won four times, but it is said the entry of a number of strong eastern players, including Francis O'Neil, president, and John Anderson of Swaney, caused him to change his plans.

BY MR. O'MALLEY.

The boys at Jack Doyle's last night were as excited as the best of the famous old pavilion in the city. The action was the same at all times and those who were repelled to the top of their seats were repelled with a bang. The game was replete with thrills, but the real article was the main event in which George and Mike Dell exchanged compliments.

After the men clashed in the first round, Dell clipped the chin and he went to a hair near Mike's corner. Dick Donald rushed over to the official count, but before he could raise his hand, George had reached for his feet with a quickness that was surprising. The cleverly born into a tangle and tugged around for a few moments.

As he recovered his bearings, George went after him like an enraged bull and began pummeling him, but the knockdown sent him up a little and he was content in pulling through the round without suffering any further damage.

At the end of the round, George again found the young Dell. He bulldozed him off the ring and landed a number of hard rights to the jaw, and he was content in pulling through the round without suffering any further damage.

SIGN UP RELEASE.

MISS MACDONALD'S PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED.

By Grace Kingsley.

The lucky rabbit's foot owned by that lucky young woman, Katherine MacDonald, star of "The Lady of Red Butte," is working. Sam Rork, her manager, has just returned from New York, where he reports having signed up for the summer the only Miss MacDonald pictures through one of the most important concerns in the country, the identity of which will be shortly announced by the company itself. Six weeks, you know.

The first of these releases will be made on October 1, at which time Miss MacDonald expects to have finished three pictures. Mr. Rork announces that the only the best and most up-to-date stories are to be chosen as vehicles for Miss MacDonald, and at present he is negotiating for the pictures of some notable stage stories and also for some well-known plays.

At present Miss MacDonald is engaged in filming Margery May's famous story, "The Brides," under direction of that king-pin director, Colin Campbell, with a notable cast which includes Kathleen Kirkham, Roy Stewart, Wedgwood Noel and White Hall.

The star and her company are to leave shortly for San Francisco to produce some scenes for "The Brides," and Miss MacDonald expects to be with her sister, Mary MacDonald and Marion MacDonald, in order to make the trip something of a family vacation affair.

"I am another to get a little rest first, though," said Miss MacDonald, "for she has just returned from San Francisco with my sister Mary, and Mary was so popular she dragged me around night and day as chaperon. Why mother even was a Coffee Dan!"

Anita Stewart to Film.

Within a couple of weeks the West will know the charming Anita Stewart, not more for at least several months. Miss Stewart, accompanied by her husband, Rudolph Cameron; the present of her mother, Mrs. Louis May, her director, Marshal Noland and Virginia Norden, and members of her company, will journey to Kentucky to make the final scenes for her picture, "The Old Kentucky Home." She will return to her home on Long Island for the summer, coming back to California next fall.

"Naturally, we'll be glad to get her back," said Mr. Noland, "but Mr. Cameron almost in chorus, 'Why shouldn't we be? We shall have a nice vacation there with our families, and we have awaiting us a new yacht, a new motor-boat, a new automobile, with the use of an airplane belonging to a neighbor if we want it."

Miss Stewart was dressed up in funny racing clothes yesterday in the studio, the same bottling her role in "Old Kentucky." She had on the oddest pair of old broken shoes which she had purchased on a second-hand store when she had a history—history she learned yesterday from a small boy who by some odd chance had thrown into her studio to work as extra. "Gee," said the small boy, "I'll bet them was my sister's shoes." He walked boldly up to Miss Stewart and asked her where she got them. Miss Stewart told him she had purchased them, and he said: "I know it." She sold her old shoes to him to get a new bat to play with in our school nine. And she made pap awful mad, 'cause she had to wear those old shoes now every day to school!"

There's just one thing making Miss Stewart sad. That's the loss of her diamond-studded wedding ring. So if you find a dainty little ring encrusted with diamonds on the inside of a ring, and bearing on the inside the legend, "I love you," why return it at once to Anita Stewart, because it's sure to be her lost weddin' souvenir.

Jack London Filmed.

Jack London's books are to be immortalized in the deathless celluloid. Harry Shuriff is to put London's yarns into film, making the productions in San Francisco.

Sid Chaplin Starts Soon.

Sid Chaplin, brother of the famous Charlie, is to return from New York to take over the production of the statement of his manager, Carlyle Robinson. He will start making his productions under his new $1,000,000 contract with First National Exhibitors circuit about July 1. Just at present Robinson is busy engaging the cast for Sid's first picture.

Mitchell Lewis to Comedy.

That husky young portrayer of Northwest characters in the film world, Mitchell Lewis, is to appear at the Mason in "Molire," and of Mr. Lewis's young son, 13 years old, who has been spending the year in military academy at West Point. The Lewis are planning some extremely pleasant trips around Southern California upon the arrival of their guests.

Role Gets Mildred Davis.

A very lovely young blonde actress, Mildred Davis of Seattle, Wash., who has been absent from the screen about a year, and whose screen debut was with Bryant Washburn in "All Wrong," has been engaged by Manager Hal Roach to play leads opposite Harold Lloyd in Rialto Films, in place of the lovely Bebe Daniels, who has signed up to star in Raskin production.

Mildred Davis' experience has been diametrically opposite that of most screen actresses, the press agents to the contrary notwithstanding. The young lady, fresh from the screen, is determined to play no more, and it was only after a long search that Hal Roach discovered her at home in Seattle.

"I saw Miss Davis a year ago in 'Washington' and I fell in love with her youth and beauty. When Miss Daniels accepted the Lasky engagement I began to look about for her successor. Suddenly I remembered Miss Davis. But where to find her? I made a hundred inquiries before I finally located her. Once I found her, three other managers were looking for her at the same time. She wasn't keen about coming back into pictures, but finally consented, and we feel sure she will be a success."

Douglas Fairbanks Busy.

Having put away her professional tiger's skin in moth balls and decided to play roles in which she could do more than just sit up in front of vampires, Louise Fairbanks is to begin work today at the Thomas H. Ince studios in one of the famous Vance Thompson "Lone Wolf" stories, to be called "The Doughnut." Mrs. Fairbanks, the noted woman director who helped make Dorothy Phillips and Mary MacLaren famous at Universal City.

As though one reformation was not enough, Mrs. Fairbanks is to stage such a worthy conduct in others. Bert Grashay, former high-power villain in pictures, has been engaged to play the noble hero of the film.

Lovely Madeline Travers is appearing at Ray's Garden this week. There, William S. Hart is appearing in "The Money Corral," and "Bill Hart" will be given a beautiful "Bill Hart" rose. It is announced.

There is nothing finer—after the old masters—in the sonata form than the Brahms opus in D Minor.

The adagio movement is replete with a wealth of melodic and architectural beauty in construction, and the finale, presto agitato, is a superb conclusion in the best Brahms style.

The Cesar Franck sonata in A Major concluded the programme. It was a spirited contrast to the previous numbers. There is nobility and a sincerity about the "father of the moderns" which is inspiring to the performer, and Salsalay and Mrs. Hope evidently favored his style. The Franck sonata breathes beauty and grace into his performance, and also a gratifying respect for the intention of the composer.

Cesar Franck is essentially a composer of musical ideas, and his sonata, which was made up almost entirely of professionals, responded to its majesty with genuine enjoyment.

Becker Pupil Plays.

Colin Campbell, student-pianist, and pupil of Thilio Becker, played in recital last evening at the Little Theater. Mr. Campbell is of the Chopin style in temperament, and equal to a pupil in a technical sense, but his playing is essentially traditional and delightfully accurate.

Mrs. Hope retains her freshness and intensity. She is intensely feminine and attractive. Her playing is excellent and intelligent proportioned to the requirements of the sonata. She has a sense of proportion and a fine rhythm, and she played the Grieg with a beautiful interpretation.

9000 BARREL WELL

The Perkins well (Ranger Oil) reported in Sunday at 5000 bbls. is now flowing 9000 bbls. daily, according to wire advices received late yesterday. This is the greatest development since the Neword well, and vitally affects the stock of the

the only Company interested in this wonder well. The Ranger Oil Company is now approximately one-quarter of the Royal Interests in the oil well drilling just across the river (about 60 feet) which well is due for completion June 1st. The Times Second Financial and Market Page NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

NEW YORK. June 10.—Renewed for Monday's closing quotations, the expression of concern on the part of Federal reserve bank officials in Washington regarding excessive speculation was considered the dominating factor in a depression of from one to eighteen points in prices in the stock exchange today.

Southern Pacific's loss of 3% yesterday was accounted for by its poor Friday earnings.

Loses generally ranged from two to eighteen points in motors, one to seven in shipping, one to three in rails and one to five in public utility stocks.

Steel suffered under the effect of the general weakness and declined 2%.

The decrease in steel tonnage, fall of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the action of preferred dividends in the oil and chemical developments in Washington were not overlooked by the bears.

After the market's close there was an increased demand for stocks in the lower market, confirming other evidences of a temporary extended short account. Sales for the day amounted to 1,900,000 shares.

Bonds reflected in a moderate way the decline of stocks, with the Liberty issues showing a decline. Total par value, aggregated $13,300,000. It was reported that the Japanese government had invested $10,000,000 in the certificates of indebtedness of the United States Treasury.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WHOLE FLOCK OF AIRPLANES HIS.

Syd Chaplin Gets Two Hundred from March Field.

Purchases Three of Latest Type Small NC Planes.

Plans Many Land Routes and Catalina Service.

Syd Chaplin yesterday became the private owner of the largest selection of flying craft in the world through negotiations completed by him with the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Corporation for the distribution of all of that organization's products throughout Southern California and Arizona.

Through his Attorney, Arthur Wright, steps have been taken for the incorporation of the Syd Chaplin Aircraft Corporation to be capitalized at $250,000, naming Mr. Chaplin as president and Lieut. Emery Rogers, R.M.A., of Santa Monica, Vice-president and general manager. It will be a close corporation, with offices in the Wright & Calander Building.

Two hundred new and used J. N. C. flying planes have been purchased at March Field, by the government, bought in by the manufacturer, been placed at the disposal of the Chaplin corporation. These will be placed on the market, with the exception of those to be used for the operation of a chain of flying schools planned by Mr. Chaplin throughout Southern California and Arizona.

BUYS FLYING BOATS.

The Chaplin organization will also operate the Catalina air line between Los Angeles, Long Beach and the William Wrigley Jr. ranch, which is twenty-six miles from Los Angeles harbor.

Mr. Chaplin has purchased three of the latest types of flying boats for his over-water route. These are of the "Seagull" type and known as the M. F. boat, being a reproduction of the smaller one of the now famous Navy Gull (NC) which negotiated the Atlantic flight. These seaplanes are en route to this city and will be put in operation not later than July 1.

Another undertaking of the Chaplin corporation includes several land routes between Los Angeles and other cities, those between Pasadena, San Dimas, Riverdale, receiving first consideration. Negotiations are now under way with the Pasadena Board of Trade and it is expected that within the next few days a lease on the suitable site in the Crescent City will be obtained.

FOR LAND FLYING.

For land flying Mr. Chaplin has purchased the newest Curtis outfit in the three-passenger Oriole. This plane was given thorough trials at the recently completed construction at Atlantic City, N. J., and experts say it is ahead of anything ever before manufactured for safety and stability.

In the operation of all its commercial lines the Chaplin corporation will use nothing but new planes piloted by government qualified aviators who have flown 1500 hours or more and are licensed by Uncle Sam.

Mr. Chaplin, while in the East, also connected with the Consolidated Shipbuilding Corporation for the distribution of her speedway boats, gasoline launches and yachts, steam yachts, houseboats and all varieties of engines.

These speed-boats have been purchased for use in conjunction with the Catalina air line. This variety of craft is capable of a maximum speed of more than 50 miles per hour and will be operated as an added measure of safety in accompanying the flying boats between the various ports.

Mr. Chaplin will return to Los Angeles the early part of next week to be on hand to supervise the construction of hangars and the assembling of the craft, besides taking an active part in the inauguration of the Catalina project.

RESERVE MUCH TAXED.

Boiling Short City Accounts. Too Much Overtime Charged.

"Trying to beat the city's reserve fund is the great game these days," declared Chairman Mallard of the Finance Committee yesterday, when the committee received reports from various departments that asked for transfers of accumulated funds to other funds where the money could be used before the close of the present fiscal year.

In this connection, the conduct of some of the city departments in rushing a lot of repair work to the principal machine shop, with the consequent necessary use of overtime by employees, was criticized. City Engineer Hansen was asked to prepare a schedule showing the amount of overtime charged up at the principal machine shop since the first of May.

BOY DROWNS.

Word of the drowning in Indianapolis Monday of John MacBeth, aged 11 years, formerly of 2815 West Second, was received here yesterday by friends of the family. The boy's father, who is a Red Cross worker, is now stationed in Coblenz, Germany, with the American Army of Occupation. When the boy's mother, a widow overseas, the mother went East with her son to live with her parents.

ARRIVES IN BOSTON.

Word was received yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Cummings of 916 South New Hampshire Avenue of the safe arrival in Boston, June 9, of their son, Capt. L. W. Cummings, of the Twentieth Engineers. Capt. Cummings resigned his position in the California State Highway Commission, to accept a commission with the engineers, leaving this country in March, 1918.

WOMAN ACCUSED.

Eleanor Boyer pleaded guilty and Virginia Brooks and Gladys Smith were acquitted yesterday in Judge Craig's court on charges of assault with a deadly weapon upon Anna Jackson, while the four were prison inmates in the City Jail. The four Smith women were transferred to the City Jail yesterday. Anna Jackson and two of the other women were witnesses before the grand jury during the graft inquiry.

GIVEN DAMAGES.

Homer Morton, who was injured when his bicycle was struck by an automobile owned by C. O. Henry, was awarded $400 damages by Judge Valentine yesterday. The court held that the defendant was negligent.

TO INSPECT FOURTH SEPARATE COMPANY.

Col. Robert H. Noble, in charge of militia affairs in the Western Department and on the staff of Maj.-Gen. Morrison, will inspect the Fourth Separate Company, California National Guard, at the Armory on Thursday night. Col. Noble inspected the Seventeenth Company at Santa Ana Monday night and left immediately for San Diego.

TO FIND VALUE OF ALL CITY BUILDINGS.

A few days ago the City Council asked Building Superintendent Backus to furnish, for insurance purposes, a schedule of the replacement value of all buildings and structures owned by the city. The Council yesterday received a statement from Mr. Backus setting out the large amount of work involved in the preparation of such a schedule, and stating that the building department is so taxed that it cannot undertake the task with its present force. He recommends the employment of one man and a compensation of $500 for the expenses. This went to the Finance Committee yesterday. The city has 142 structures on which it is proposed to carry insurance.

CLERICAL ERROR.

It was John W. Murray who brought suit for divorce in New York, but it was Marie Murray who made John the defendant in a suit for divorce filed in this county and tried and denied by Judge Taft on Monday. Murray's complaint was in the file of the court. A clerical error was made in recording the judgment. Mrs. Murray, an actress, desired it to be known that she brought the action here.

ARMY DOCTOR BACK.

Dr. H. E. Beck has received his discharge from the army and has opened offices at 1918 Brockman Building, and at his home, 624 West Avenue 56. Dr. Beck ranked first in the medical branch of the service and served a year at Fort MacDowell and Camp Kearny.

SHIPYARD STRIKE WOBBLING BADLY

Possible Men may go Back to Work Next Monday.

Prospects for a Sympathetic Walkout are Poor.

Men with New Jobs Taxed to Support Jobless.

That the strike of 6000 ship-builders at Los Angeles Harbor is wobbling badly was indicated yesterday by the decision to finance the strike by taking one day's pay a week away from all strikers who have secured other employment, and the determination to ask sympathetic strike of all shipyard machinists on the Coast.

J. W. Kelley, an international organizer, has just returned from northern ports where he presented the local case to several machinists' locals. He is firm in the belief that the machinists from Seattle to San Francisco will walk out on Saturday if asked to do so in support of the local strikers here. It is understood that this method will be urged as the quickest way to force the government into interfering. The strikers' parents, who are visiting the country, are in the United States Shipbuilding Company's interest. The scenario is written by Helen Hunt Jackson with a religious atmosphere to suit a children's day audience. Later a moving picture may be made of the play.

Those who will take part are Mrs. Muriel McCray, Mrs. H. T. Hulme, F. C. Smith, Mrs. M. C. Smith, Miss Inez Yale, and Mrs. C. Lydie Harris. The children of the Sunday-school have also been assigned parts.

PLAYLET IN CHURCH.

Novelty in Religious Instruction for Sunday-school.

A playlet in allegory to be presented Sunday evening for the first time here was written by Mrs. N. L. Howell, wife of Dr. N. L. Howell, pastor of the Men's Congregational Church at Sixth avenue and Fifty-fourth street. Mrs. Muriel McCray, her daughter, who is visiting the country, is in the United States Shipbuilding Company's interest.

EXTEND DUE DATE ON SOME FEDERAL TAXES.

Instructions were received yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Carter that the time for filing partnership and personal service corporation returns for the first year was extended from January 31 to February 28, March 31, or April 30, 1919, has been extended to July 15. This same extension applies to all other corporations for the first year, and for all periods, which, on or before June 15, shall have filed tentative returns and paid at least one-fourth of the estimated tax.

This extension does not extend the due date of any installment of tax after the first installment. In the case of a corporation filing a tentative return and paying one-fourth of the tax, the due date of the second installment of tax, which is automatically extended one month after the close of the corporation's fiscal year ending in 1919.
